Brief description:

Death is a sad thing, but are funerals supposed to be like that too? The sudden death of her husband after 25 years of marriage makes the world fall apart for Karla Fazius (Anke Engelke). However, unexpectedly and to the astonishment of her family, she finds new energy in a new profession: she becomes a funeral orator. On her way to regaining her own zest for life, she accompanies other mourners from then on, making every effort to break every single rule in the funeral business. This is much to the regret of the undertaker Andreas Borowski (Thorsten Merten). At the same time, however, she finds it difficult to overcome her own loss and therefore brings more and more chaos to her family. All the six episodes tell different stories of sadness, death and the continuation of life: sometimes it is funny, sometimes sad and always a bit absurd – the way life writes them. Because no matter what others say - death does not have the last word!

„We are very proud of this special format covering a not so commonplace topic. It was a great challenge to find the right mix of laughing and crying. With Anke Engelke and Aron Lehmann we felt a massive energy around this project every day. This can be also seen in the result. DAS LETZTE WORT is definitely one of our most special projects so far and pretty sure one of the most beautiful,“ says Dan Maag, Managing Director of PANTALEON Films.
