

PANTAFLIX AG: Airbus uses PANTAFLIX technology for global equipment of the Connect-D platform of the German Federal Armed Forces

Munich, September 21, 2020. PANTAFLIX AG (GSIN: A12UPJ, ISIN: DE000A12UPJ7) has won another well-known customer for its streaming platform PANTAFLIX. The aerospace company Airbus uses the technology for the Connect-D-Service for the German Federal Armed Forces.

With Connect-D, Airbus provides the German Armed Forces with a platform for communication and entertainment. PANTAFLIX is responsible for the technology for the extensive film and series streaming offer. From now on, Bundeswehr soldiers will be able to access the platform at a total of 15 locations on three continents.

For this purpose, PANTAFLIX installs its VoD system on site at the respective locations and ships and solves the challenges with regard to security and connectivity. This demanding project once again underlines PANTAFLIX's competence in meeting specific customer requirements in terms of workflow, security and technical integration.

"We are very proud of the contract and cooperation with Airbus and the German Federal Armed Forces. Connect-D is a great platform to which we can make an essential contribution with PANTAFLIX. At the same time we are pleased to be able to provide video entertainment for our soldiers with our platform technology," says Rainer Knebel, CTO of PANTAFLIX AG.
